Dear Colleagues,

I would like to highlight an important update. Ranking agencies directly pull data from Scopus to assess our institution's publication performance. To ensure your contributions are fully recognised, please take a moment to create and update your Scopus author profile, if you haven't already. It is a relatively quick and straightforward process via their website.

This small step will help boost our overall ranking in the upcoming cycle. If you need assistance, please contact the University Library.

Thank you for your continued support,

Sincerely,

Director, IQAC
