A RESEARCH PROPOSAL WRITING WORKSHOP THROUGH VIRTUAL MODE

26-31 October 2020.

This National level online workshop intended for Masters level students of English literature (MA English literature) aims to acquaint participants with the nuances of research proposal writing. It will provide useful guidelines to draft research proposals (required while applying for a research programme), and hands-on training in drafting a research proposal.

A format will be provided and participants will be trained in specific aspects of a research proposal. The drafts will be read and feedback will be provided to the participants who submit them during the workshop and by email to those who submit later.

An overview of primary and secondary sources, research methods and methodologies and referencing would also be included, although this won't be part of the training.

A maximum of 50-60 participants can be included. A group of ten participants will be trained in a day. The workshop is chiefly aimed at those who are pursuing their MA programme currently, but those who recently completed their MA or are about to complete are also welcome.

A digital certificate will be awarded to all registered participants.
